15 EXPLANATION

16 BACKGROUND. Code chapter 717B provides animal cruelty
17 statutes which apply to all animals other than (1) livestock;
18 (2) game, fur-bearing animals, fish, reptiles, or amphibians;
19 and (3) nongame species declared to be a nuisance (Code section 20 717B.1).

21 ANIMAL CRUELTY OFFENSES. For those animals that are 22 covered, there are three types of animal cruelty offenses.
23 The first is neglect, which occurs when a person impounds or 24 confines an animal and fails to provide it with necessities
25 such as food or water or who tortures or kills an animal 26 by causing it unjustified pain (Code section 717B.3). The 27 second is abuse which occurs when a person intentionally
28 injures, maims, disfigures, or destroys an animal owned by 29 another person (Code section 717B.2). The third is torture
30 which occurs when any person inflicts upon an animal severe
31 physical pain with a depraved or sadistic intent to cause 32 prolonged suffering or death (Code section 717B.3A). The 33 offenses involving abuse or torture include specific exemptions
34 for taking, hunting, trapping, or fishing for a wild animal
35 regulated by the department of natural resources under Code

1 chapter 481A.

2 BILL'S PROVISIONS. This bill provides that the animal
3 cruelty statutes apply to game, fur-bearing animals, fish, 4 reptiles, or amphibians. It also modifies the exceptions for 5 abuse and torture by persons taking, hunting, trapping, or 6 fishing. The exception would only apply if the person acts in 7 a manner consistent with customary practices.

9 intentionally commits the offense of animal neglect is

11 commits the offense of animal neglect which results in serious
12 injury to or the death of an animal is guilty of a serious 13 misdemeanor. A person who commits animal abuse is guilty of an 14 aggravated misdemeanor. A person who commits animal torture is 15 guilty of an aggravated misdemeanor. However, for the second
